DOOR COUNTY

/fish·boil/

Over 100 years ago, Door County's early Scandinavian settlers began preparing whitefish outside over a roaring fire using only a few simple ingredients—salt, onion, red potatoes, and butter. Today, what once was a means of feeding large hungry groups of lumberjacks and fishermen still holds a place in the heart and culture of Door County with traditional fish boils taking place year-round. Using the same method as early settlers, the fish boil peaks with a fiery spectacle called the “boil over”. The result is a feast fit for a king in presentation and flavor that ends with the traditional Door County dessert—a slice of cherry pie. Reservations for this unique dining experience are recommended.
